Dialogue	Action Details
You lost or somethin'?	Sitting at a corner booth in a local bar with a cigar, ashtray, and a drink on the table.
Hi. I'm Josh and I am with the BPD. I just had a couple questions for you.	Josh flashes his badge and takes out a small notebook.
Naw man. I'm looking for some merch. You know where I can get some?	Josh looks gang-like and sounds like he is from the projects. He rubs his hands together.
I hope not. My name's Josh and I'm looking to be your new dealer. Teddy told me you are down a few people.	Josh looks like he is in casual clothing and brings a handful of cash.
Naw bro. I ain't talkin' to no cops.	He puts a cigar in his mouth and has an old fashioned drink next to him.
Merch huh? Whatchu lookin' for?	He leans forward slightly, trying to gauge who Josh is.
Oh! Teddy told you to come here, huh? Well, what'd he tell you?	He looks calm and collected, but visibly annoyed with Teddy.
Please. It's about a weapon in a murder investigation.	Josh is still holding the notebook out, but flips it open.
I don't care. You're gonna answer my questions one way or another!	Josh holds his notebook at his side and takes a slow step towards vendor.
Well, we could do this here, or at the station. Your choice, but this is happening regardless.	Josh put his notebook away, sighs, and folds his arms.
Look bro, I got some guys that want that heat. The plasma type, you know?	Josh is waving his hands around slightly as he is explaining this.
Somethin' with some power behind it, you know? Got some ass with it.	Josh gets real into his performance and make a laser sound as he jolts backwards, indicating recoil.
I need a plasma gun. Teddy told me you could hook me up.	Josh gets close to the vendor to whisper to the vendor.
He said you are an arms dealer, right?	Josh points to the vendor with a raised eyebrow.
What do you mean? He told me you sell guns.	Josh frowns slightly, trying to look a little annoyed.
He said you can help me sell guns. I need the money.	Josh leans in close as he starts to whisper.
I don't know what yer talkin' about.	Vendor gets more relaxed, but clearly hiding something.
Says who?! You?!	He stands up and gets in Josh's face as he puts his finger on Josh's chest.
Look, I got rep here. Yer ruining that man... Sit down.	Puts his hands up slightly, trying to tell Josh that he is still trying to protect his reputation. He gestures for Josh to sit down and talk.
OK. Well, I gotta check the back, but grab a drink. I'll be back.	She sets his cigar down in the ashtray next to him and gets up to head behind the bar.

Ass? So somethin' like plasma.	He kind of chuckles at Josh after he says "Ass" and continues with a smirk on his face.
The hell?! Get outta here rat!	He swiftly gets up and points to the front door.
Why the fuck is he spreading my business?! Get lost!	Visibly pissed off with a contorted face and points to the front door.
What I mean is why'd you come here if you know what I do? You a cop?	He slowly leans forward as he starts to talk to Josh and then slowly stands up with raised eyebrows.
Teddy told you that? I think yer confused friend. And I think you should leave.	He takes a sip of his drink after he asked the question, then nods and points at Josh, then points at the front door.
